Tony Graham looked up from his bag. Hullo, Allen, he said, what the dickens are you up here for? I was rather thinking of doing a little boxing. If you ve no objection, of course. But you ought to be on a bed of sickness, and that sort of thing. I heard you d crocked yourself. So I did. Nothing much, though. Trod on myself during a game of fives, and twisted my ankle a bit. In for the middles, of course? Yes. So am I. Yes, so I saw in the Sportsman. It says you weigh eleven-three. Bit more, really, I believe. Shan t be able to have any lunch, or I shall have to go in for the heavies. What are you? Just eleven. Well, let s hope we meet in the final. Rather, said Tony. It was at Aldershot-to be more exact, in the dressing-room of the Queen s Avenue Gymnasium at Aldershot-that the conversation took place. From east and west, and north and...
