Excerpt from The Foster-Brother: A Tale of the War of Chiozza This novel being the production of a writer whose name has hitherto scarcely transpired, the publisher is of opinion, that an introduction of it to the public by one who has been longer before them, may serve to procure it the speedier attention. Thinking what I do of its merits, and the writer being one of my sons, the reader will conceive how willingly I have fallen in with a suggestion having such an object; though at the same time I must own that I felt myself to be in a delicate position, with regard both to the needlessness of my good word in the long run, and the suspicions to which fatherly commendations are liable. In reflecting, however, that my introduction is of necessity addressed chiefly to critical readers, I concluded that they would give me their best construction. Assuredly the new writer neither expected any such recommendation, nor intended, in the first instance, to have his name disclosed. He is not, indeed, a new...
